(2) After the commissioner determines that the complaint and meeting process has been completed or the licensee has failed to submit a plan of corrective action pursuant to subsection (d), the commissioner may institute a hearing based upon his or her reasonable belief that the operation of the business is a public nuisance. Notice of a hearing scheduled under this section shall be given to the alderman of the ward in which the licensed premises is located. At the conclusion of the hearing, if the commissioner determines by a preponderance of the evidence that the operation of the licensee's business is a public nuisance because the licensee has failed to take reasonable steps to correct objectionable conditions occurring on the licensed premises or adjacent property, the commissioner shall enter an order suspending or revoking the applicable license.

When determining what constitutes reasonable steps, the commissioner shall consider site configuration constraints and other factors related to any unique circumstances or the nature of the business, as well as the frequency of complaints of objectionable conditions and the manner in which the licensee has sought to address such conditions.

"Reasonable steps" include, but are not limited to, the following:

- A) calling the police department. Timely calls to the police department via 911 that are placed by the licensee, or his agents or employees, shall not, in and of themselves, be construed by the commissioner as evidence of objectionable conditions that constitute a nuisance.

Directions of this nature may be provided orally or in writing.

Notwithstanding any other provision of this section, if a licensee has provided satisfactory proof to the commissioner that the licensee has devised a plan of operation that will provide reasonable assurance that operation of the business will not cause a public nuisance, the commissioner may suspend the effectiveness of the suspension or revocation order for a period of six months while that plan is in effect. Such a plan must be submitted within 20 days after a suspension or revocation order is issued under this section, and the commissioner shall postpone enforcement of the order pending his or her review of the plan. If no plan is submitted within 20 days after the issuance of a suspension or revocation order under this section, or if the commissioner rejects the plan, the suspension or revocation order shall become final. If the commissioner approves the plan, the commissioner shall continue the hearing to a specified date prior to the expiration of the six month period. The plan may include conditions upon the licensee's operation of the premises that are useful or necessary to mitigate a public nuisance, including, but not limited to: providing security personnel, restricted hours of operation, providing outdoor lighting, the display of signs, providing trash pickup services or any other reasonable restrictions on business practices. After a continued hearing at which interested persons shall have the opportunity to be heard, the commissioner may: (1) reimpose the suspension or revocation order if the commissioner determines that the licensee has failed to adhere to the written plan of operation; (2) order the modification of the plan of operation, including the addition or removal of conditions on the operation of the premises; (3) vacate the suspension or revocation order if the commissioner determines that the order is no longer necessary to prevent a public nuisance; and/or (A) continue the hearing for an additional six months, during which the effectiveness of the suspension or revocation order may continue to be suspended pending further evaluation of the licensee's efforts to correct objectionable conditions.

Any order issued pursuant to this section, other than a final order imposing a suspension or revocation or vacating such sanction, shall not be considered a final order for purposes of appeal.

A licensee's failure to adhere to a written plan of operation approved by the commissioner pursuant to this section, through either the complaint and meeting procedures or upon the licensee's submission, shall constitute a basis to impose a fine and to suspend or revoke the licenses held by such licensee, as appropriate.

- (d) (1) Notwithstanding subsection (b), at any time prior to the initiation of proceedings to revoke or suspend a license under this section, if the commissioner determines that a business meets the criteria for a public nuisance under subsection (a), the commissioner may notify the licensee of his determination. Upon such notification, the commissioner may request the licensee to submit a plan of corrective action that provides reasonable assurance that the operation of the business will not cause, or continue to cause, a public nuisance. Subject to the approval by the commissioner, the plan may include conditions upon the licensee's operation of the premises that are useful or necessary to mitigate the public nuisance, including, but not limited to: providing security personnel, restricted hours of operation, providing outdoor lighting, the display of signs, providing trash pickup services or any other reasonable restrictions on business practices.

2) Any licensee who fails to comply with all requirements of the approved plan of corrective action shall be fined not less than $200.00 nor more than $1,000.00, or have his license suspended or revoked for the first violation. 3) If the licensee does not submit a plan of corrective action after a request by the commissioner, the commissioner may institute a hearing in compliance with subsection (b) (2).

4) The commissioner shall not approve any plan of corrective action after the initiation of proceedings to revoke or suspend a license, unless the commissioner determines that it would be in the best interest of the city to approve such a plan.

If
